2014 Winter Alaska Grown Chef at the Market
Request for Proposals ~ Application Deadline February 28, 2014

To Interested Chefs and Culinary Artists:

The Division of Agriculture (Division) is seeking proposals for the 2014 Winter Chef at the Market program. Chef at the Market has two primary goals:

1. Bring attention and additional customers to Alaskan farmers markets to sell more produce, and
2. Teach consumers how to cook and prepare Alaska Grown specialty crops.

The Division intends to award multiple contracts as a result of this announcement. The Chef will be responsible for:

1. Conducting event/s as outlined;
2. Setting a defined schedule for event/s;
3. Utilizing only specialty crops available at the market that day;
4. Coordinating all necessary supplies, permits and display equipment;
5. Promoting the event and soliciting media coverage through sources such as Facebook, Twitter, websites, etc. The Division will be sending out a list of all the chefs/markets/dates/times;
6. Documenting approximate number of people outreached;
7. Using simple cooking techniques and recipes that are easy for the general public to re-create;
8. Submitting a brief project report including digital photos upon completion of the event by an online reporting program.

Interested individuals should submit a proposal including the following:

1. Application must be typed;
2. Each project must have a title page that includes your title and contact information; The title page does not count;
3. Please make sure the proposal is no more than 4 pages. The title page does not count;
4. A letter of support from the market manager(s) that includes emphasis on the market manager’s willingness to provide evaluations;
5. If applicable, a letter of support from the restaurant where the Chef is currently employed;
6. A budget sheet, using the example provided;
7. A calendar indicating the markets to be attended, the dates and times; and
8. A signed copy of the Specialty Crop Declaration.

Chefs are encouraged to apply to attend multiple markets in different locations as well as develop unique and creative events. The 2014 CATM season will run until April 30, 2014. Please submit your proposal via mail or e-mail no later than Friday, February 28, 2014. If you have questions please contact Jacquelyn Schade at Jacquelyn.Schade@alaska.gov or 907-761-3858.

Note: There will be a 2014 Summer Chef at the Market Program as well! Keep an eye out for more information on the summer program coming soon.

Specialty Crop Declaration

A statement must be signed by each chef as a declaration of understanding that the grant money will be used to SOLELY benefit specialty crops. A specialty crop is defined as any produce grown in Alaska including honey and birch syrup. A non-specialty crop is defined as all meat originating from livestock and poultry, eggs, dairy, jams, jellies, sauces, barley flour and seafood.

Examples of recipes using specialty crops that are acceptable:
- Any recipe whose main ingredient is a specialty crop, including side dishes.
- A recipe that uses specialty crops to top breads or pizzas, where the specialty crop is still the main focus.

Examples of recipes using specialty crops that are not acceptable:
- Any meat or seafood dish that uses specialty crops where the specialty crop is not the main ingredient.
- Any recipe where the specialty crop is only used as a garnish.

I, ________________________________, agree to use the funding from the Chef at the Market grant to solely benefit specialty crops.

Yes □ No ☐ If yes, I intend to utilize non-specialty crops in my recipes, but have secured matching funds totaling _______ from __________________.
